Agenda
Item # 2: Status Update on the Addition of a Brokerage Window

Ms. Akiyoshi reported on discussions with INVESCO and ING on how the brokerage window would work. INVESCO prepared an explanatory letter on imposing a 90-day "equity wash" on monies coming out of the Stable Value Fund and invested through the brokerage window.

Ms. Ono stated that she and Mr. Egger were available to clarify information on the “equity wash” provision and how it would work. Ms. Ono stated that everyone in the brokerage window requires an “equity wash” provision and is required by the contract wrap insurers to continue to underwrite the wrap contracts. The purpose is to prevent interest rate arbitrage or disintermediation against the Stable Value Fund. Funds coming out of the Stable Value Fund are flagged for ninety (90) days and cannot be invested in a competing fund. The entire brokerage window is considered a competing fund because there is not a way to track movement from a fund once it enters into the window.

Mr. Egger explained that insurance wrap providers take on risks in environments where market value is below the book value. When participants decide to transfer assets away from the Stable Value fund, the remaining participants bear any of the losses within the Stable Value fund.

Ms. Cann confirmed that ING can track monies into the Plan's core funds, and follow the transfer of monies wherever it moves.

Mr. Saharic added that the wrap provider market has gotten stricter and they are watching issues that could negatively impact the market to book value ratio and jeopardize wrap provider provisions. Mercer does have clients who have similar arrangements so this is not unprecedented. They have not received any negative feedback on the 90-day “equity wash” provision.

After discussion, the Board agreed with the proposed “equity wash” provision and noted that basically there is not a choice in the matter.

DAG Tam explained the Mercer’s trading options handout that lists the menu options available in the brokerage window that participants would have access to.

Mr. Saharic explained the Board would indicate on Schwab’s Personal Choice Retirement Account (“PCRA”) application form which investment options participants would be allowed to invest in through the brokerage window. Mr. Saharic reported that there is a survey of section 457 plans that offer brokerage windows, and about one-half have a fully-open window with no restrictions on investment options. The other one-half impose restrictions and offer only mutual funds.

If the Board has any concerns on the categories of trading options, he recommends offering only mutual funds first and phase in other options at a later date. He noted that when there are restrictions, Board will likely hear from participants about the restrictions, as some participants tend to want to push the limits.

Mr. Saharic explained the categories/types of options:

For Taxable Mutual Funds, participants can access no-load funds without sales charges, and load funds with sales charges.

Typically some plans allow and some do not allow Tax-Exempt Mutual Funds because it offers lower yields. Since the Plan is already tax-exempt, it is not necessary to invest in tax-exempt vehicles. However, because there have been dislocations in market at times, it may make sense to offer both taxable and tax-exempt mutual funds and offer a full array of mutual funds.

Most plans open up the brokerage window and say that participants use them at their own risk.

Mr. Saharic pointed out option 8 which is a new option that was added by Schwab where you can invest in individual options, and recommends limiting these to covered calls or protective puts. He noted that most 401(k) and 457 plans move in that direction anyway.

Mr. Saharic explained some of the downside risks to opening up the window (e.g., losing monies or entire account balances during a down market). Participants should sign a form saying that they understand the risks involved and fully accept them. He noted that plans say that participants have to abide by the brokerage window’s minimum trading limits.

Ms. Akiyoshi added that according to ING, participants who are enrolled in the PAM program and decide to transfer monies into the brokerage window can be cancelled from the PAM program. The Plan’s investment advice service only covers the core investment options in the Plan.

A motion was made by Trustee Yahiro and seconded by Trustee Taira to allow the eight (8) general categories of investment options in Schwab’s brokerage window. The motion passed unanimously.

Chairperson Laderta excused herself from the meeting at 9:15 a.m. and asked Vice-Chairperson Chu to preside over the meeting.
Ms. Ono, Mr. Egger, and Ms. Larsen were also excused from the meeting (via conference call).

Agenda

Item # 3: Legislation

Ms. Akiyoshi reported that H.B. No. 1550 went to conference committee and the measure was deferred to April 29, 2009.

Senate resolutions, SCR No. 67 and SR No. 41 went to the Senate floor and the measures were passed. The Board can expect that hearings may be scheduled by the Senate committee for SR No. 41. The other two (2) Senate resolutions went over to the House. Trustee Yahiro spoke with the House representatives and was told that the resolutions are dead for this session. Trustee Ushijima suggested that more communication should be prepared and sent over to educate the legislators on what the Plan administrator and the Board have been doing to fulfill their fiduciary responsibilities.

Agenda

Item # 4: Approval of Minutes Nos. 331 and 332

A motion was made by Trustee Yahiro and seconded by Trustee Taira to approve Minutes Nos. 331 and 332, as distributed. The motion passed unanimously.

Agenda

Item # 5: Discussion on the recent performance of the Wells Fargo Large Company Growth Fund

Mr. Saharic reported that the Wells Fargo Large Company Growth Fund has recovered a little bit as of March 31, 2009, and is up approximately 0.8%. Long-term numbers still show that the fund has been underperforming, and he feels that it is still prudent for Board to look at other large cap fund providers. During this period, Mr. Saharic noted that the other large cap fund options have also done well.

For the 3-month period ending April 24, 2009, the fund is in the top quartile of its peer group, but the 3-year numbers are still lagging. The 5 and 10-year numbers are still way under the median.

Add

Agenda Item: A motion was made by Trustee Yahiro and seconded by Trustee Taira to add to the agenda the Report on Funds Not Deposited in the State/County Treasuries for the PTS Plan.
The Board discussed the requirements to add an item to the agenda, which requires five (5) board members to take action to add an item. Since only four (4) trustees are present, this item will be deferred to a subsequent meeting.

Agenda
Item # 7: Other Business/Announcements

Ms. Cann announced that ING has hired a new Plan Relationship Manager to be located in Hawaii. Ms. Jeanne Kanai, a Plan consultant at the local office, was offered and has accepted the position.
